Fire Levels SJ Township Supply Firm City And Volunteer Units Fight Blaze 3 Hours

BY DICK DERRICK
SJ City Editor

Fire that completely destroyed the Schultz Industrial Supply Co., 1656 Hilltop road, St. Joseph township, was extinguished by St. Joseph City and Township firemen after a three-hour struggle this morning.

There was no official estimate of the damage but it would probably range between $100,000 and $200,000.

Destroyed were a large building including warehouse and office, a truck and supplies for industry ranging from screws, nuts and bolts to power tools, chemicals and other heavy machinery supplies. The building and contents are covered by insurance, according to a member of the owner's family.

It was the second major suburban fire this week. Wednesday, flames gutted the interior of two stores at Stevensville's Village Square, causing an estimated $100,000 loss.

St. Joseph firemen were called first at 5:30 a. m. to the Schultz Co. by a service station operator in the neighborhood who shouted: "The whole thing is going."

St. Joseph city fire department dispatched a truck and notified St. Joseph township fire department.

Eventually six fire trucks, two from St. Joseph and four from the township were pressed into service.

St. Joseph firemen said they could see flames shooting 50 to 60 feet in the air when they were enroute to the fire.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started in the front of the building and driven by a 12 MPH wind pushed the fire back into the ware house area. It was 33 degrees at the time of the fire.

Heat was so intense that firemen could not immediately probe the ruins to search for a cause.

A large addition was virtually completed. The 60 by 70-foot addition, which would have doubled the size of the operation, was due to be completed by the first of the year.

Schultz Industrial Supply Co. is owned by Louis C. Schultz, Paw Paw Lake road, Coloma. The business was originally located at 2826 Niles avenue, St. Joseph. The firm moved to the Hilltop site about 10 years ago.

A neighbor, Jack Gobiel, told firemen nothing was amiss at 3:30 a.m. Firemen theorized the fire may have been smoldering inside the building for hours before breaking through the roof.

During the height of the blaze a fireball, possibly triggered by rust preventive or industrial cutting oils, erupted at least 200 feet into the sky.

The building is situated near the intersection of Hilltop road and Cleveland avenue. There are no other buildings nearby and none were endangered. Located across Hilltop road are Hilltop-Gard school and the St. Joseph branch of First Federal Savings and Loan of Niles.

RAGING INFERNO: Firemen battle in vain against fire that roared through Schultz Industrial Supply Co. and shot skyward, punctuated by explosions early this morning. The building at 1656 Hilltop road, St. Joseph township, was a total loss, along with a nearly-completed addition. Loss was estimated at between $100,000 and $200,000. Cause of fire was not immediately known. (Staff photo by Ralph Lutz)

Jet Falls Into Row Of Houses

CHICAGO (AP) — A passenger jet carrying 61 persons was winging its way through sleet and snow to a landing at Midway Airport when it plummeted down in a neighborhood of tidy bungalows on the city's Southwest Side, killing most of those aboard.

Among the 43 known victims was U.S. Rep. George W. Collins, D-Ill., while Michelle Clark, a CBS television news correspondent, was among the bodies tentatively identified at a morgue Friday night.

The survivors who were aboard the United Air Lines Boeing 747 jet were admitted to a hospital for treatment.

It was not immediately determined if any residents of the neighborhood were killed when the two-engine plane skimmed over the roof of one home Friday and sliced through five other houses about a half-mile from the airport.

The tail section extended from one house and the shattered nose rammed through a home and came to rest in an alley.

At least 20 persons resided in the section of homes, but many of the wives and husbands were either working or en route to schools to pick up the children when the crash occurred.

Marvin Anderson, a survivor treated and released from Holy Cross Hospital, said he sensed something was wrong when the pilot revved the engines in what Anderson thought was a "hopeless effort to abort the landing."

"Only about five seconds after the engines were revved the plane went into a stall, the nose of the plane went up and the tail went down...then the tail hit a building and we

Prosecutor Charges Nuisance Law Violation

'Adult' Bookstores Sued

BY BRANDON BROWN
Staff Writer

Berrien Prosecutor Ronald J. Taylor Friday and today launched a double-barreled attack on three Niles and Benton Harbor-area adult bookstores accused of selling obscene literature.

He named them as defendants in a Berrien circuit court civil lawsuit—filed Friday—alleging they violate the state public nuisance law; and said he planned to serve notice on them today of court hearings to be held at the stores and aimed at prosecuting store personnel on high misdemeanor charges of sale and distribution of obscene material.

Taylor's targets are Niles Adult Book Store, 208 North Front street, Niles, and alleged owner Ronald W. Sappenfield; Al's Adult Book Store, 138 Water street, Benton Harbor, alleged owner Gayle Poe, and alleged sales clerk Dan Walls; and Red Arrow Book Store, also known as Benton Heights Book Store, 2158 Red Arrow highway, Benton township, alleged owner Ray Mittan, Jr., and alleged sales clerk Paul Yake.

Mittan is the son of Ray C. Mittan of Benton Harbor, Republican state representative for the 44th District. Prosecutor Taylor also is a Republican.

Taylor said Friday he believed Sappenfield is a Michigan City, Ind., resident and the others are of the Benton Harbor area.

His civil suit, titled "complaint for abatement of nuisance," alleges the defendants are selling obscene and pornographic literature and images. It claims the sale and distribution violates the state's 1961 public nuisance law because it "has resulted in a general decline in the moral stature of the community and has resulted in numerous complaints by members of the community that such materials have been generally circulated

Crash Near Decatur Kills Illinois Woman

DECATUR — An 18-year-old Oakland, Ill., woman was fatally injured in a two-car collision north of here last night. Driver of the second car involved, Richard Overacker, 20, of Wolverine trailer park, Mattawan, was reported in serious condition today at Bronson hospital, Kalamazoo.

There were few details on the accident available, but state police said the collision occurred about 10:15 p.m. on M-51 about two miles north of Decatur.

Officers said that apparently the Kirschbaum car was southbound, went out of control on the wet and slippery road, and collided head on with the Overacker car, which was northbound.

The collision occurred in the northbound lane, according to state police diagrams of the accident.

Miss Kirschbaum was pronounced dead on arrival at Lakeview Community hospital, Paw Paw, police said.

The death was the 18th of the year in Van Buren county, as compared to 16 for all of 1971.

Indiana Men Killed In Cass

According to deputies, Ward's car was westbound on U.S. 12 and Williams' car traveling east when Williams' car went out of control on ice just east of Starbrick road in Mason township. Deputies said the car crossed the center line of the road into the path of Ward's car.

Bigelow was killed about 2:30 a.m. today when struck by a car driven by Charles Elder of Edwardsburg, police said. He was walking alone along U.S. 12 in Ontwa township.

No injuries to Elder were reported by the Ontwa township-Edwardsburg police department which investigated the accident.

Williams was declared dead at the scene by Dr. Thomas Rea of Edwardsburg. Police said his car collided with a car driven by Robert Ray Ward, 22,

Nothing But The Best For Michigan's Lawmakers

There was a time, back in our long lost youth, when going to the legislature was looked upon more as an honor than as a way of making a living.

The pay was $2,500 a year. Supplementing it were a modest mileage allowance, a one-time to and from Lansing shot, and a couple of bucks a day for meals while the Lansing grist mill was in session.

True it was that the legislature only convened once in two years and this regular session seldom exceeded 60 to 90 days. Occasionally the governor might summon the lads back for a special session, but this did not intrude any time and a half computation into the base pay.

Following World War II, somebody developed the notion that legislating should be a full time occupation.

Lots of problems, you know, which can only be met on a continuing basis.

So the part time flavor went out the window and the boys dug in for around the clock careers.

Increasing a job's work content raises a normal expectation for more pay and in the past few years the legislature has seen to it that more seed must be given the birds if they are to sing more.

The annual salary is now up to $17,000 a year. There's a $2,500 tax free expense allowance. The mileage and living accommodation provisions have been stepped up accordingly.

Starting January 1st, the allowances rise a point or two, but a two-thirds vote in each house is needed to override what substantially amounts to a pay freeze. A salary commission created by the legislature to pass on economic benefits for its members and the upper echelon in the administrative and judicial branches pulled what many solons assail as a case of biting the hand that feeds one.

Possibly in reaction to the commission's decision, most of the legislature is sailing all over the map on all manner of special missions.

Some of the visitations bear a semblance of digging up information not readily available to the lawmakers, but most of it is so much fluff.

Forty members drew down a total of $16,000 to attend a gimmick styled as the National Conference of Legislative Leaders.

This is a Miami Beach fun and games bit.

There are some seminars presided over by what passes for learned minds, but they're brief and well spaced so as not to interfere with the golf, surfing, sunbathing, nightclubbing and so on.

The 40-member delegation includes six lame ducks who won't be visiting Lansing for a while except as they might latch on to lobbying jobs.

We're not overly turned on to the turned off generation, but it's not hard to see why some kids wonder what kind of a world their elders are fashioning.

Anyway, our area's legislators show a regard for the proprieties. Harry Gast, Ray Mittan, DeForrest Strang and Bela Kennedy are sweating out the frozen north along with their constituents.

Sen. Charlie Zollar of Benton Harbor took in the Miami conference but the Associated Press reported that he's one of the few lawmakers putting in full time at the seminars, staying from beginning to end. Even if he weren't, it would be pretty hard to fault Charlie since he gives the net proceeds of his legislative salary (after taxes) to charity—much of it to publicly-owned schools and colleges.

The $16,000 won't break the state till, but how can the legislature tell others in the Lansing apparatus that economy is an overlooked virtue which needs resurrecting?

Russian Wheat Deal

The great Russian wheat deal, who did what to whom, and what it all means in the long run will probably be subjects of controversy for quite sometime. Anything that involves a billion plus dollars and 25 percent of current U.S. wheat production, inevitably is going to affect a lot of people and have considerable impact on the economies of both the United States and the Soviet Union.

It all started with Mother Nature, who arranged a year of unbelievably bad weather which cut deeply into Soviet farm production. This problem was then compounded by the built-in inefficiencies of the agricultural system in the Soviet Union. Last winter crop failures were started with early freezing temperatures and light snowfall insufficient to protect newly-planted winter wheat. It is estimated that one third of the crop was lost. It was a long winter which delayed planting of spring wheat and feed grains. Then came a hot, dry, crop shriveling summer followed by heavy rains during harvest time in many sections of the country. As a result of all this, Russia's 1972 grain production, it is said, will probably be around 160 million metric tons, some 30 million less than the official goal. So, the Soviets set out to remedy the situation.

A New York Times article reports that Soviet buying teams, on two trips to the United States, moved quickly and efficiently to purchase from U.S. grain dealers what appears to be a total of some 11 million tons of wheat, valued at about $660 million; 1 million tons of soybeans, worth about $130 million and 6 million tons of corn valued at around $300 million. All this was done with such dispatch in the various grain markets of the United States that before the true size of the Russian purchases really became apparent, the deals were completed at prices considerably lower than would have prevailed if the magnitude of purchasing had generally been known. Nevertheless, U.S. farmers have already benefited and should continue to do so since Russian grain purchases are likely to go on for two to five years.

Russian agricultural troubles don't all stem from the weather. Many originate with the system itself, which is so different from that of the United States as to be hardly imaginable. U.S. News & World Report outlines some of the contrasts.

In the first place, some 40 million persons, amounting to one third of the nation's labor force, are engaged in farming in the Soviet Union. There are 3.5 million farmers in the United States. Soviet collective farms around 32,800 of them average 15,000 acres in size and 15,500 state farms average over 50,000 acres huge spreads of land, by any standards. In the U.S. there are approximately 2.8 million farms averaging about 400 acres apiece.

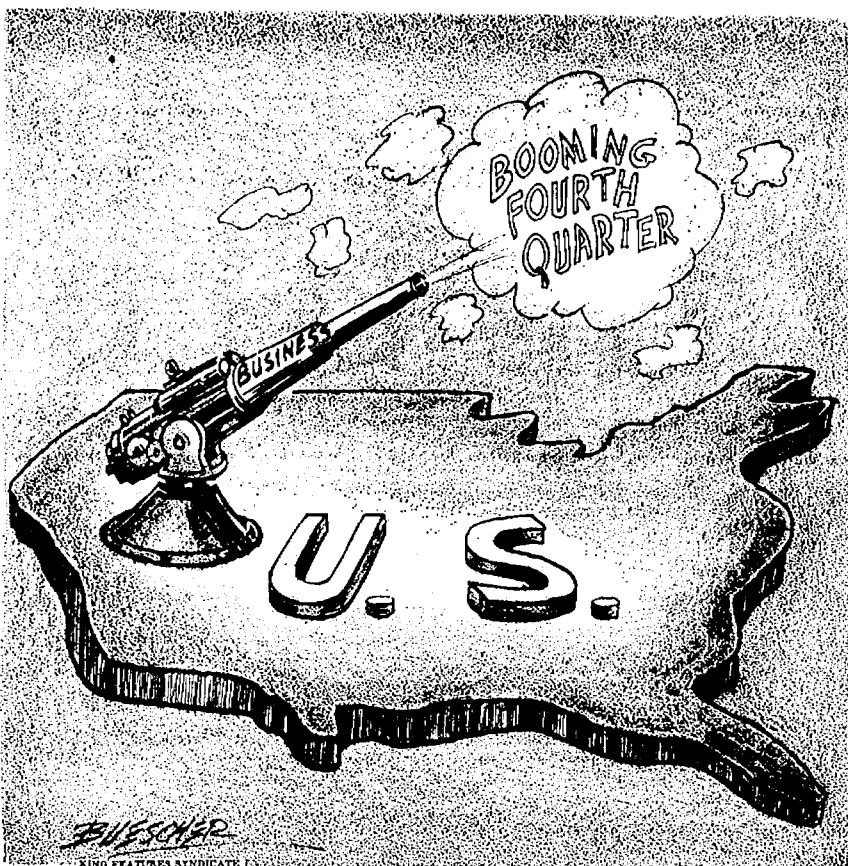

Most importantly, U.S. farms are profit making enterprises run by their owners. They use twice as many tractors and 80 percent more fertilizer than their Russian counterparts. They also produce 21 percent more grain and twice as much meat as the Soviet Union. Only about three percent of Russia's total agricultural land is in private hands, but as U.S. News points out, this private farm production last year, "... accounted for 63 percent of Soviet potato production, 38 percent of the vegetables marketed, half the eggs and one third of the meat and milk supply."

About the only conclusion that you can draw from these comparisons is that private enterprise, from the standpoint of productivity, on the farm is a howling success.

The efficiency of U.S. agriculture is one fact graphically dramatized by the massive Russian grain purchases. A productive agriculture carried on by a small minority of the population is the key to high living standards based on advanced-technology production of goods and services.

In the long run, what this means in terms of restructuring Soviet agriculture, no one can now say.

BEARS TURN OFF LANCERS' SCORING MACHINE

— 1 Year Ago —

It took a while to find the key but St. Joseph finally managed to turn off Lakeshore's basketball scoring machine.

Coach George Gaundier's Bears clamped a tough man-to-man defense on the young Lancers and held them to only 21 points in the entire second half while running off with an 89-68 victory last night at the Lakeshore gym. Packy Rayn led the way with 27 points and three other Bears hit double figures in their biggest scoring spree of the season, but it was on defense that the Bears turned the game around last night.

Yuletide Spending Is Surging Ahead

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — As if he didn't have problems before, Santa Claus is facing the most serious logistics challenge of his life this year, and observers of serious men and limited vision say he must trade his sleigh for a 747 jet.

It strains credulity, they say, to believe that anything less than that can transport the avalanche of gifts that are expected to tumble out of fireplaces on Christmas Eve.

Rising personal incomes, booming retail sales and surveys of buyer intentions indicate that more money will be spent this Christmas than ever before in history.

Retailers already are reporting sales between 8 and 9 percent higher than a year ago, when the country was beginning to emerge from a recession, and they expect the percentage to be even higher in pre-Christmas weeks.

During the Thanksgiving week, traditional kickoff for the Christmas selling season, retail stores sold $8.88 billion of merchandise, about 8 percent higher than in 1971, although one percent lower than in the preceding week.

Individual stores reported sales as much as 20 percent higher than in the 1971 Thanksgiving period. And many retail chains set records for the month. Sears, Roebuck, largest retailer, had record sales of $1.09 billion.

Fueling the surge is a resumption of growth in personal incomes, which had been swamped by inflation for several years. While inflation continues on an abating scale, incomes have grown strongly through the year.

In addition, and despite a 5.5 percent jobless rate, more people are at work today than at any time in the nation's history.

Surveys indicate that the buying mood is strong almost everywhere, despite the irregular geographical pattern of prosperity that is often disguised by the national statistics.

A study by Sindlinger & Co. of Swarthmore, Pa., indicates that the country's total gift list will be enlarged by 25 percent. More people will give more gifts to more people this year than ever before, said Albert Sindlinger, president.

Sindlinger, whose staff asks thousands of questions by telephone seven days a week, claims to have found good news for aunts, uncles and cousins.

It was this tier of relatives, he said, who were cut from gift lists during the past three years of budget pinching. Now they are being restored. "This gift might not be as big but more people will receive them," said Sindlinger.

Some retailers would be inclined to differ with Sindlinger on the size of gifts because many of them feel big and exotic items have again caught the eye of shoppers. They are being heavily promoted.

In the previous three years some retailers made little attempt to attract interest in very expensive items, feeling they were ill-suited to both the mood and the pocketbook of consumers.

Now, both mood and pocketbook have changed, and the retailers, advertising media, aunts, uncles, cousins and kids are likely to benefit. The problems belong mainly to Old Nick—and probably to some parents who bought on credit.

CAB Hits Air Fare Discounts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has found youth and family air fares "unjustly discriminatory" but put off canceling them pending hearings on a possible reduction of normal passenger fares.

In an 83-page order on its investigation of domestic discount fares, released Friday, the CAB indicated it may order a reduction of all passenger fares when the youth and family discounts are dropped.

Republicans Still Weak In Politics

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

The thinned-down posse of Republican governors gathering at Phoenix predictably will be griping that President Nixon didn't lend a real hand this fall to some of their campaigning brethren and other candidates. But their party problem is bigger than that.

Put aside for the moment all the stuff about how both parties are weakening, how the ties of allegiance to them have grown fragile, etc. They still do exist, they still are used as vehicles for electing people to major office, and they must be measured by certain standards of performance.

The thing to say about the Republicans is that they are poor party-builders and have been for a long time.

When they were plunged into minority status by Franklin Roosevelt's ascendancy, the GOP took a long time to wake up to what had happened to them. For a while thereafter, the only times they won anything big were when voters got mad at the Democrats and reacted at the polls, as in the GOP resurgence in 1938 and its 1946 victories reflecting accumulated irritation and weariness after World War II.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's personal popularity bought the party, in 1952 and 1956, its first real chance to come back, to regain majority status. The Republicans blew it.

Who would believe that a party whose candidate won the presidency by 9.5 million votes in 1956 could drop to a pathetic total of 14 governors, 154 of 435 U.S. House members and a third of the Senate seats in 1958? Some very skillful men had been involved in getting Eisenhower nominated and elected the first time. If they did not exactly vanish into the woodwork, they evidently were distracted by other tasks thereafter, and certainly their numbers did not increase.

Since that period, they're relied mostly upon divisions within the tangled Democratic party to bring them what successes they've had. They did get back into heavy dominance of the governors' ranks, not long ago possessing the governors' chairs in all the big northern states down to the population level of Missouri. Their edge was 31 to 19. But here we are in 1972 and it's the Democrats 31 to 19.

Moreover, the Republicans are in a spell where they're going to have the presidency once again for at least eight years, and once more they're showing virtually no talent for party-building.

Every political analyst worth his salt knows the American voters, in considerable degree, are up for grabs. The opportunity is golden. But if the Democrats are faltering, so are the Republicans.

They have a positive genius for fielding lousy candidates. They don't seem, on the whole, to know how to build up good men for the great quest for office. They play at politics like college graduates who meet from time to time for reunions. A lot of them behave between election years as if politics were a distasteful exercise that had to be gone through periodically, but mercifully did not last long.

Castro System Is A Disaster

Fidel Castro's decision to impose harsh jail sentences on the American hijackers, and, especially, his care to give that decision maximum publicity, represents a clear move on his part toward better relations with Washington.

And why, indeed, should he not desire them? His regime has been an unmitigated disaster, and any potential he ever had as a revolutionary force has long evaporated.

The Cuban economy is a shambles, an achievement for which Castro himself rather disarmingly took full credit in a three-hour speech two years ago.

His international reputation stands at rock bottom. Moscow pours a million dollars a day down the Cuban rat hole, but clearly regards Castro as an anachronistic embarrassment. Soviet technicians in Cuba view the performance of the Castro system with contempt.

Western intellectuals, smelling failure, have junked Castro completely. People like Sartre, Beauvoir, and Sontag used to make pilgrimages to Cuba, returning to write panegyrics draped in murky metaphysics. But all that has been dead for several years, and in that quarter Fidel now probably ranks in appeal just ahead of Mayor Daley.

On the theoretical level the jig is up, too. When Castro came to power, a great deal was written by Sartre, by Regis Debray, by Che himself, and by a horde of potential academics, about how the Cuban movement represented a new theoretical breakthrough within Marxism: a "revolution within the revolution," as Debray put it.

The traditional Marxist view was too pedantic and gradualist, they held. You did not have to wait for the revolutionary "contradictions" to develop. And the older view that the industrial workers were the prime revolutionary power base hardly seemed promising.

No, the peasant, as in Cuba, was the new revolutionary force: more or less instantly ignitable. As in Cuba, the middle-class guerrilla should disappear into the hills and live among the peasants. He would become a revolutionary by living the revolution. Marx stood on his head. It was most exciting.

But put to the test by Che Guevara in Bolivia, this theory crashed to the ground. Local conditions varied, it turned out, and the Cuban pattern could not be duplicated. Rural insurgencies failed in Bolivia, in Brazil and elsewhere. Counter-insurgency techniques, developed in the U.S., proved all too effective. Guevara's fingertips, chopped off for identification purposes, were duly forwarded to the capital.

In retrospect, the significance of Guevara's failure for Castroism cannot be overestimated. With Castro's domestic policy a hopeless failure, he now saw his foreign policy — Castroite revolution in Latin America — collapse too. During the past year, he has attempted political visits to both Chile and the Soviet bloc, and in both cases it was only too clear that he was generally viewed as a minor and inconsequential figure.

ST. JOSEPH, MICH. SATURDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1972

OPENED TO PUBLIC: Coloma's new junior high school, above, and seventh grade building at the middle school will be open for public inspection Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. The structures, which have been in use this fall, were financed by a $2.425 bond issue approved by Coloma voters in Jan. 1971. Also open Sunday afternoon will be additions at Coloma and Washington elementary schools that were financed by the same bond sale. Refreshments will be available at the junior high and seventh grade building. Students will serve as guides in the new buildings.

Bridgman Ballots Monday On $750,000 Issue

Voters Hold Fate Of Swim Pool

BRIDGMAN — Fate of a proposed indoor swimming pool with locker, shower and sauna facilities for the new Bridgman high school is to be decided Monday by school district voters.

At stake is a $750,000 bond issue being sought by the school board to finance the project and some development of the school's site.

According to school officials, the swimming pool project is to cost an estimated $675,000. The balance of the issue, if approved, would go for site fencing, tennis courts, permanent bleachers, and a field house.

If financing is approved, construction could start about

May and would be done in nine to 12 months.

Voting will be in the student commons area of the new high school with polls open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Dr. David B. Lechner, superintendent, said that based on an anticipated state equalized valuation for the school district of about $90 million next year and an expected payment of about $74,100 that slightly less than three quarters of one mill in local property taxes would be needed in 1973 to meet the debt retirement needs for the project.

He said, however, that because of projected increases in the district's valuation that total property tax collections for debt retirement in the district probably will be less than the current 7.650 mills collected for debt service.

Over the full 16 years of the bond issue, Lechner said, the board of education has projected average tax levy for the pool project at less than one quarter of one mill per year.

The average rate over 16 years would mean that a resident owning a $30,000 home assessed at 50 per cent ($15,000) would pay an average of about $3.75 per year in taxes for the pool.

Site for the proposed pool is immediately south of the high school gymnasium. New corridors would provide access to the pool area from within the school.

Building housing the pool facilities would be 123 feet long, 95 feet wide. Design by Davenport Associates, Grand Rapids, provides a six-lane Olympic competition-size pool with an additional 30 by 40 foot diving area which will allow two classes to be held simultaneously, Lechner said.

The proposed building also includes an instructional area on the pool deck, balcony above the locker and shower areas with seating capacity of 275 for viewing competitive sports events, separate girls and boys locker and shower rooms, separate laundry facilities, an instructor's office and saunas in each of the locker room areas.

Lechner said the saunas would be used by adults of the community during periods that the pool is open to residents of

Memorial Hospital Willed $20,000 By SJ Woman

An elderly St. Joseph widow who died Dec. 2 has bequeathed $20,000 to Memorial hospital of St. Joseph among bequests in her $167,500 estate.

A petition filed Friday in Berrien probate court includes the value of estate, will and codicil of Mrs. Virginia Freund of 1329 South State street, who died Dec. 2 at age 86. Her husband, Harry, died in 1967. She formerly was a secretary in her husband's Chicago real estate firm.

A 1967 will and 1971 codicil leave $20,000 to Memorial for equipment purchases and $10,000 to Bethesda Home for the Aged in Chicago. They also bequeath numerous household items, antiques, paintings and cash in amounts of $5,000 to $15,000 to a host of residents of this area and elsewhere.

Cash bequests to area residents included $5,000 each to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martelle of Benton Harbor, Mrs. Bertha White, Mrs. Lillian Schlutt and Ray Dumke, all of St. Joseph.

In addition, all books but a family Bible were bequeathed to the St. Joseph public library.

Owner, Lawton Reach Agreement

LAWTON — A lawsuit filed by the village of Lawton against the owner of Lawton Manor apartments will be dropped if the owner lives up to terms of a new agreement with the village, Village Atty. Horace Adams said yesterday.

The agreement, providing for payment of $15,000 owed the village, was accepted earlier this week by the Lawton village council.

It provides for "forthwith" payment of $5,000; another $5,000 by May 1, 1973, and the final $5,000 by Sept. 1, 1973, Adams said. In addition, it provides for payment of seven per cent interest on the money from the time the village was forced to cash a time certificate of deposit to pay bills it was supposed to have paid with the $15,000.

The village had filed suit in August to collect the $15,000 payment which village officials said was due June 1 under terms of a 99-year lease it signed with developers of the project.

Owner of Lawton Manor is Robert Jenkins of Detroit. He said in September that the only reason the $15,000 lease payment had not been made to the village was that the village had not met its part of an agreement to extend water and sewer service to the development by June 1. He said services did not reach the center until July 12.

The lawsuit was filed in Van Buren circuit court. Lawton Manor is a 60-unit senior citizens apartment complex on White Oak street.

MODERN DESIGN: Persons visiting the recently opened Coloma junior high and seventh grade buildings Sunday afternoon will see this new hall-less school design. Students pass classes through the backs of the rooms, rather than via a hallway. Design features including carpeting minimize noise. Purpose of the design is to use school space for educational purposes. (Cliff Stevens photo)

Good Fellows Reverse Tide Of Misfortune

Remembering the Good Fellows was the happy diversion of four donors whose combined gift totals $36. That runs our total to $1,164.78 which means $2,335.24 to go to meet the minimum goal of all that Good Fellows have to do.

First a gentleman walked into the office and laid down a five spot. Then Atty. Joe Killian sent $16 covering two football bets he won from Dr. C. K. Johnson. That makes three bets the counselor has won so far this Good Fellow season—with the bowl games still to go.

American Legion Auxiliary No. 163 send the Good Fellows $5 which is a repeat of many years.

Finally the Lakeshore Chamber of Commerce sought to improve the Good Fellow image with $10.

Just when everybody agrees the weather can't get any worse—it does.

That's the way it is with Christmas. A good many people swing into the Christmas season with high hopes and before you know it things really brighten up. The routine party turns into a real blast. The sales lady has just the present you were looking for. There is a parking spot in front of the post office the day you have all those packages to mail.

The same holds true in reverse. There are those who dread Christmas because it won't fit the budget. There are too many mittens, and coloring books, and candy canes to buy.

And in situations like that the old Murphy law usually takes effect. That's the law that says if anything can go wrong—it will, at the most inopportune moment.

So the Herald-Press Good Fellows stand ready to reverse that tide. If anyone is having a tough time at Christmas and the Good Fellows hear about it things happen.

The reason the Good Fellows are able to do something is strictly because a lot of people take a few minutes and remember the Herald-Press Good Fellows at just about the time you are reading this.

N-P Good Fellow Fund Nears $1,500 Plateau

Santa's Good Fellow Fund was an even $100 richer today as the total soared to $1,436.22.

Good Fellows have just over $6,000 to raise in two weeks to meet their goal of $7,500. "Contributions are picking up, but we've got to do better," St. Nick observed.

"The Christmas rush is just getting underway and that always brings a rush of generosity to join the Good Fellow rolls.

"Over the years, Good Fellows have never failed to do their job and I'm sure 1972 won't be any exception," Santa Claus said.

Despite the proximity to Christmas, Santa Claus has reason for confidence in Good Fellows. Next Friday, Benton Harbor Exchange club Newsies hit the streets for their annual newspaper sale—a campaign which usually makes about half the Good Fellows' total goal.

Today's contributions received at The News-Palladium office were topped by $50 from a gentleman who wants to be known simply as "The Old Timer." Santa Claus respects his request for anonymity, but notes: "The Old Timer" has done a lot of good for a lot of people in many Good Fellow appeals."

The Women's Service League continued its role of service with a $15 gift. From Benton Harbor high school came $10 from Barrymore Thespian Troupe 455 and the Footlighters Drama Club. Sponsor Miss Margaret Meyn wrote the thespians are joining the bandwagon for Santa's Good Fellow Fund.

A just plain friend sent $10 and Santa wishes he had many more like him. Another friend gave $5. There also was $5 from American Legion Auxiliary Unit 105 and $5 from Mrs. Edward Grewe in memory of her husband, Edward. "May this help a little for someone to have a merry Christmas," Mrs. Grewe wrote.

"Thanks again Good Fellows," Santa said. "And as you address those Christmas cards this weekend, don't forget the Good Fellow Fund."

Tigers Have 'Rough' Time Beating Trojans

BY JIM DeLAND
Sports Editor

Benton Harbor's basketball team may be a diamond in the rough, but right now the Tigers certainly need a lot of polishing.

"We looked terrible," coach Earl McKee said frankly after watching the Tigers stumble to a 79-68 victory over Traverse City in their home opener Friday night at the Colfax gym.

"We don't practice that way every day...we don't even look like that. We practice one way and play another way."

McKee employed all 15 of his players but found few sources of pleasure in a game that saw the Tigers commit a glaring total of 35 turnovers plus seven free throw lane violations and countless defensive lapses.

Only the steady play of senior forward Anthony Wooden and an excellent shooting performance overall kept the Tigers ahead from start to finish in a game they should have won in a runaway.

Wooden sat out the entire first quarter and more than two minutes of the final period, but still led the Tigers with 21 points and 12 rebounds, in the process sinking 10 of 14 shots.

At times in the third quarter he went for minutes without even touching the ball.

however, as the Tigers set some kind of non-record for fewest assists in a game.

"Wooden was the only one who shot from our offense," McKee said. "He was always where he should be, but we weren't getting the ball to him like we should."

Guard Danny Castleberry was the only other Benton Harbor player in double figures with 10 points but eight of his teammates had better shooting percentages as the Tigers connected on 36 of 69 shots for a fine .522 average.

Traverse City substituted sparingly and put four of the five starters in double figures, with forward Dave Corsault scoring 21, Frank Kerrigan 14, Bruce Hanson 13 and Gary Raymond—the son of coach Jim Raymond—adding 12.

Benton Harbor opened the game in a 1-2-2 zone defense and jumped off to a 17-4 lead as Traverse City hit only 2 of 20 shots in the first quarter.

Benton Harbor's starting front line of Reggie Walker, David Adkins and Kerry Dudley, in contrast, did not miss a shot and junior guard Gary Phillips even tossed in a few good passes for good measure.

Wooden came off the bench to score 10 points in the second quarter and gave the Tigers a 38-23 halftime lead, but they were outscored 45-41 in the final two periods while experimenting with various personnel combinations and a pressing man-to-man defense.

"I was trying to find somebody who really wanted to play the game, but I didn't see too much out there," McKee explained. "Like on our man-to-man—everybody wanted to steal the ball. We'd be reaching out there and they'd go right by us."

Openings in the man-to-man defense enabled the Trojans to shake loose for inside shots and they hit 18 of 39 in the second half to boost their overall average to a respectable .356 on 26 of 73 attempts.

Four straight points by Corsault cut Benton Harbor's lead to only nine points at 75-65 with almost two minutes left and McKee was forced to send Wooden back in the game to help hold the Trojans off.

The victory evens the Tigers' record at 1-1 for the season and puts them in a three-way tie for first place in the Lake Michigan Athletic Conference at 1-0.

Traverse City now is 1-2 for the season and 0-1 in the LMAC.

Paul Wilhite got his first victory as Benton Harbor's junior varsity coach in the preliminary game as the Tigers whipped the Trojan reserves 65-47 with Edward Albert scoring 11 points and Ken Wilder netting 10.

Benton Harbor returns to action next Friday in another LMAC game at Mona Shores.

MUSTANGS HELD TO 51 POINTS

Bears D-Feat Portage

By JOHN VANDEN HEDE
Staff Sports Writer

Big D is in the thing on the St. Joseph basketball court these days.

The Bears haven't been known for defensive prowess in recent years, but all of a sudden Big D is the word because of a change in thinking by coach George Gaumer and the manpower available.

St. Joe's new game plan was very much in evidence Friday night as the Bears pasted Portage Central 67-51 in a Big Six encounter before their home fans.

It marked the lowest score by a St. Joe opponent in 42 games covering three seasons. The Bears haven't allowed anyone to score 60 points this season with a 56.3 points allowed mark which compares to an overall 71.5 record for last season.

"This year we're concentrating a little more on the team aspect of defense," explains Gaumer. "I used to years ago but somewhere I lost perspective of it in the last few years."

Gaumer, a strict advocate of the man-to-man defense, even put a zone to good use as the Bears hiked their record to 2-1 against Central. "Maybe I've changed my thinking about that," adds the veteran coach with a smile.

A couple of big reasons for the emphasis on defense are 6-9 center Tom Scheffler and husky 6-3 forward Dan Griswold.

Scheffler had 22 points and 19 rebounds and Griswold 14 points and 10 rebounds while holding control of the boards against a 1-1 Central team which averaged almost three inches per man shorter than the Bears.

"They're just too physical for us," declared first-year Mustang coach Scotty Wilson while pointing out that his team had just nine offensive rebounds while losing the battle of the boards 44 to 28.

Central got 18 points from guard Jim Millward and 10 each from forwards Gary Schoenfeld and Dave Surch in a game where the only Mustang lead came in the second quarter. St. Joe substitute Dan Wheeler was the game's only other double figures scorer with 13.

St. Joe jumped off to a 15-6 lead as Portage was making just two of its first 11 shots. But St. Joe's Mark Schnese then left the game with his third foul and the Mustangs went on a 10-point spree, including eight by Millward, for their only lead of the night at 16-15 with 6:24 left in the second quarter.

Wheeler, who didn't play the first quarter, promptly put the Bears back on top for good. St. Joe led 30-25 at halftime but couldn't shake Central until Surch and center Mike Ortega each picked up their fourth fouls in the third period.

St. Joe took advantage of the situation and started getting the ball into Scheffler more. The big center responded with the Bears next 13 points as St. Joe pulled away. "We had to lay off him and couldn't play him tough," added Wilson while calling his players' foul trouble a key to the outcome.

St. Joe finished with 13 more shots than Central while hitting 28 of 71 field goals (39 per cent). The Mustangs connected on 20 of 58 (34 per cent). At the free throw lines, St. Joe made 11 of 17 and Central 11 of 21. The Bears had 13 turnovers and the Mustangs 15.

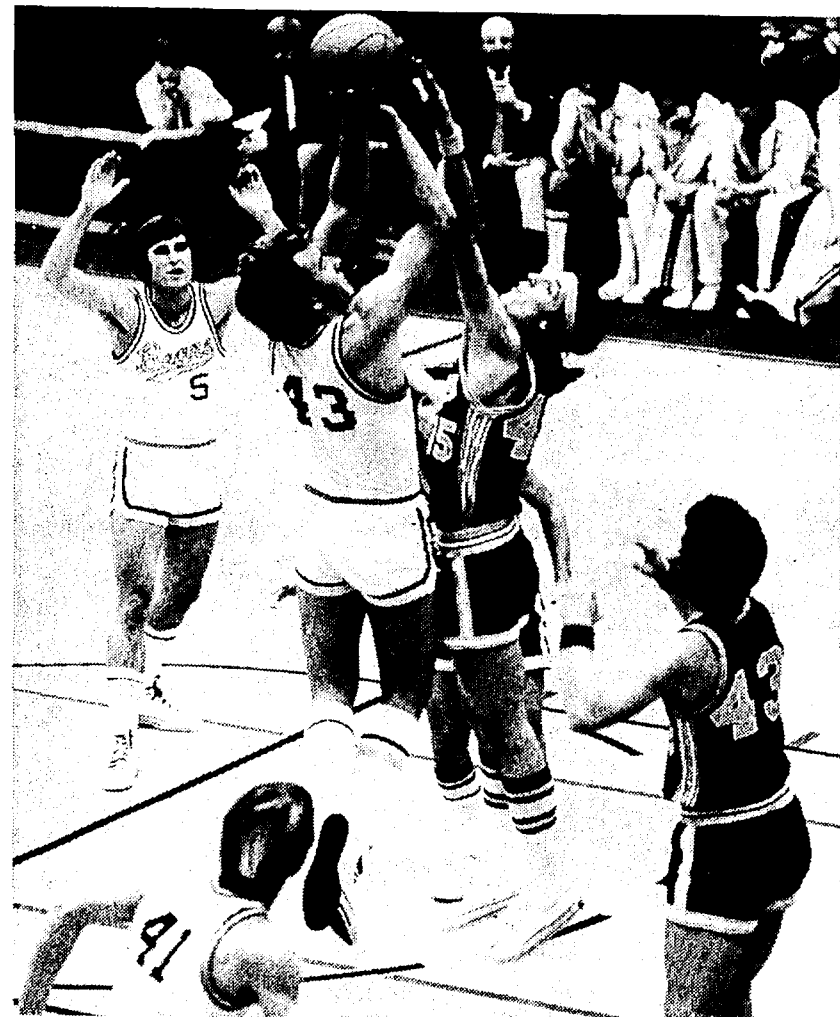

While Gaumer is obviously proud of his team's defensive accomplishments so far, he is quick to point out that "maybe we haven't played anyone yet." Gaumer and the Bears will undoubtedly find out just how good they play defense next Friday night against undefeated and high-scoring Niles. Even before St. Joe's varsity took the floor Friday night, junior varsity mentor Clare Adkin was declaring a "super" defensive effort had allowed the Bear jayvees to pound the little Mustangs 70-53 in the preliminary.

Central had just 33 points through three quarters against St. Joe's regulars. "Excellent team defense...that's what we've been striving for," declared Adkin.

Mike Ryan scored 29 points as the St. Joe jayvees remained unbeaten at 3-0.

NMU Defeated By North Dakota

GRAND FORKS, N. D. (AP) — Bruce Austin had 18 points to lead the North Dakota Sioux to a 75-63 nonconference basketball game over Northern Michigan Friday night.

The Wildcats built up a 35-30 halftime lead, but North Dakota took the lead with 17 minutes to play, and scored nine unanswered points in the next two minutes. At one point, the Sioux led by 22 points.

Gary Sackee had 19 points to lead Northern Michigan.

Tigers, Bears Set For Tourney Duel

St. Joseph and Benton Harbor will meet for the first time in three seasons in the Dec. 28 opening game of the St. Joseph Basketball Holiday Tournament.

Following the 7 p.m. opening game, Ypsilanti and Ottawa Hills will square off in an 8:30 contest. The championship game will be at 8:30 p.m. Dec. 29 in the Bear gym, following a 7 o'clock consolation contest between Thursday night's losers.

Admission prices will be $1.50 per night or $2.50 for the entire tournament. The St. Joe gym has a capacity of 2,800.

Hull Sparks Jets' Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
When Bobby Hull was starring in the National Hockey League, he was known as the Golden Jet.

Friday night he was the Winnipeg Jet and his new World

Hockey Association team—known, by a strange coincidence as the Winnipeg Jets—ripped the Houston Aeros 6-2 as Hull triggered a four-goal explosion over a 5½-minute span of the final period.

Lancers First To Hit 100 Berrien Bombed In Blossomland Opener

Lakeshore became the first southwestern Michigan to crack the century barrier this season while hammering Berrien Springs 106-79 in the Blossomland opener for both teams Friday night on the Lancer floor.

Guard Rick Farrow poured 14 points through the hoop in the first quarter as Lakeshore got the rout underway by carrying a 30-12 advantage into the second period.

The Lancers led 48-33 at halftime and 74-50 entering the final frame as "everybody played and everybody scored."

Farrow finished as the leading Lakeshore scorer with 26 points while playing about half the game. Substitute Larry Livengood added 17 and Charlie Shafer and Chuck Hoge 12 apiece as the deadly Lancers hit 46 of 83 field goals (55 per cent) and 14 of 21 free throws.

"We shot well," admitted Lakeshore coach Lloyd MacTavish. "They full court pressured us and we were able to break the pressure and get a lot of layups at the other end of the floor. We didn't make those first game mistakes tonight."

Lakeshore dominated the boards with 40 rebounds, including 11 by the 6-6 Shafer. "We were on the boards and got a lot of second and third efforts," stated MacTavish.

Doug Lansdale paced

Berrien pointmakers with 22. Ron Marschke had 13 and Curtis Wooden and Neil Tollas 10 each as the Shamrocks slipped to 1-2 overall. Berrien hit on 21 of 36 free throw attempts.

Lakeshore led 74-50 entering the last quarter and went over the century mark with the "just hungry" subs scoring 32 points in the final eight minutes. The total was 10 points shy of the school scoring record.

Lakeshore now takes a 1-1 record into tonight's key game with powerful Dowagiac. Berrien Springs is 1-2.

Berrien Springs did win the junior varsity preliminary 70-65 with McCray scoring 23 points and Decker 15. The little Lancers had Brad Peterson with 14, Craig Andrews 11, Marty Mason 10 and Dan Johnson 10.
